

Secure Electric Fencing, Vaal Triangle: website audit and new site

Prepared by FactSmith Sites · audit 28 September 2026, updated 2 October 2026 · concept site:

Summary

Secure Electric Fencing has traded in the Vaal Triangle since 2000, but its website reads like a company profile. Google knows only one page, and nothing on it helps a homeowner find, trust or call the business. The updated site leads with 26 years of experience and gives every service and area its own place.

What we found

Area	Finding	Why it matters
Pages on Google	Only the home page is indexed	The business only shows for searches that one page matches
Page title	Just 'Secureelectricfencing'	Names no service or town in Google results
Content	Founding story, vision, mission and strategy	No services list and no call to action
Services	Gates, garage doors, CCTV, alarms, welding listed elsewhere, no pages	Each is a search the business cannot win
Security	Indexed on http, not https	Browsers may show 'Not secure'
Listings	2016 directory entry with old landline and Yahoo email; two Procompare profiles	Out-of-date and split reviews
Availability	The site refused connections on 2 October 2026	Customers cannot reach it at all

The opportunity

Trading since 2000, with its own premises for manufacturing and distribution, is the strongest trust signal the business has, and today it is buried. One team for fence, gate, garage door, alarm and cameras is a clear advantage over single-service competitors.

What the best competitor sites have in common

We reviewed three of the strongest electric fencing websites in South Africa and built the new site around what they share.

Competitor	Website	What stands out
Pro Electric Fencing	proelectricfencing.co.za	Suburb-by-suburb area pages, same-day response, certificate page, pricing guide, gallery, quote pop-up
Gido	gido.co.za	Since 2001, 8,000+ clients, services by property type (domestic, estates, commercial, country), staff vetting, brand partners, same-day repairs
Impact Fencing	impactfencing.co.za	Since 2010, installer association membership, services sub-pages, maintenance contracts, projects gallery, quote form

Common to all three	Where it is on the new site
Town in the headline, call and quote buttons always visible	Home hero, sticky call and WhatsApp bar on phones
Services split by property type and job	Services page: installs, repairs, gates, maintenance, business

Common to all three	Where it is on the new site
Fast repairs as a headline promise	Repairs and call-outs section, same-day wording (to confirm)
Compliance certificate explained	Dedicated certificate page: who it is for, steps, what is checked
Service areas listed town by town	Areas page and area strip on the home page
Proof: years trading, accreditation, brands, gallery	Why choose us, gallery (client photos to come)
Maintenance contracts	Maintenance plans service
Pricing guidance and FAQ	FAQ page with FAQ schema for search and AI answers
Quote form plus phone, email and hours	Contact page with quote form

Getting found: SEO, AEO and GEO

SEO: a page per service, certificate and area, clear titles, fast on phones. AEO: plain answers on the FAQ page, marked up so Google and voice assistants can lift them. GEO: the same facts on the site, Google and directories, plus reviews, so AI assistants can confirm and recommend the business.

Listings clean-up

- Set up or claim the Google Business Profile for the Vaal premises
- Merge the duplicate Procompare profiles and update old listings
- One phone number and one email, used everywhere
- Ask for a Google review after each job
- Restore hosting and move the site to https

Investment

R1,500 per month per website, for an initial three months. Covers building the site on WordPress, setting it up to be found, and the monthly digital marketing. After three months the business continues, or takes over the site with all logins, content, images and the web address.

What we need to start

- 20-minute chat: services, areas, phone and email
- Access to the current domain and hosting
- 10 to 20 photos of jobs and the premises
- Review the first draft
